Limited Medical Assistance Fund can really help!

Access the Limited Medical Assistance Fund to help cover medical costs according to the guidelines:

*Reimbursement is NOT for co-pays, prescriptions or office visits.

*The reimbursement is up to a "reasonable amount" of costs remaining after an insurance payment for hospital care, out-patient surgery, treatments, etc.

*You are eligible no matter your age and/or Medicare status, with proper documentation.

*To receive application forms call TRA at 651-296-2409.

*Distribution of funds is made throughout the year, with no particular deadline.

At the end of the year, if more money is available from the trust than was needed for the health care reimbursement explained above, then the balance will be distributed for health care insurance premiums. This eligibility is more strict than the process for medical expenses:

*A retiree must be 65 or older, *must have retired from a Minneapolis school after May 1, 1974 and before January 1, 2000, AND *must not be eligible for free Medicare Part A.

Is there still a “common good” in Minnesota?

In January we celebrated the life and work of Martin Luther King and we remembered President Kennedy’s Inauguration address, causing us to ask if we are still striving for the “common good”? We hear politicians “demonizing” public employees and advocating greed and avarice. They advocate freezing public employee salaries, but why not freeze insurance premiums and big oil prices?

The price of corn has increased 300% in the last five years but the “Blenders Tax Credit” of 45 cents per gallon of ethanol is paid to big oil. This means that 4.5 cents of subsidy is in every gallon of motor fuel consumed in the US.

Most of us paid 8.5% of our teacher salaries each year for our pensions. Also I paid into Social Security for 51 years; now some conservative politicians say public pensions, Social Security, Medicaid and Medicare are going to bankrupt our nation. Who engaged us into two major wars, sent the common person into battle and then enacted major tax cuts and borrowed the war money from the Chinese Communists? Who deregulated Wall Street and then let the big bankers lead the West into a “Great Recession”? President Bush’s Toxic Asset Relief Program bailed out the Wall Street bankers and paid them billions and billions in bonuses. President Obama’s Stimulus Program helped Main Street, paid unemployment benefits to laid off workers and preserved the jobs of millions of workers in the cities and towns of the United States.

We need to call our elected representatives and tell them where we stand.

Benita, Prey for Him reveals true courage, strength

Benita Kane began teaching Spanish at Minneapolis Washburn in 1962. No one on the staff would guess that behind her friendly, open smile were years of hurt, frustration, ultimatums by the Catholic Church and desperate pleas by her family. ...nor suspect the many more years it would take for Benita to regain control of her life.

Benita, Prey for Him is the true story of Benita Kane Kirschbaum, who since she was 12 was groomed by Father Dunkel, her parish priest in Dubuque, Iowa, to be "his." Although the bulk of the book relates the development of the relationship until she finally succeeds in breaking his control in 1965, its power lies in Benita's courageous efforts to bring the priest and the Catholic Church to accountability. ...and to forgive herself.

Author Virginia Tranel, friend and classmate from grade two at St. Columbkille Catholic school through graduation from Clarke College, writes as both a participant and an unaware observer. After Benita's father dies when she is 10, and with her older brothers in the service, her family sees the priest as a benign adult male in her life. As his campaign continues, first disguised as teaching her to drive, Tranel writes, "It's obvious to us that Father prefers Benita, but that's understandable. Her curly, silken blonde hair, her blue eyes, her academic and athletic talent impress us, too." He becomes a friend of the family, playing poker, using their garage, asking Marcella, Benita's mother, to sew for him. No one, including Benita, understands his campaign of seduction; she still typically day dreams about another boy she knows, and Marcella worries about Benita smoking.

Finally, Father Dunkel succeeds when Benita is 15; the affair continues until 1965. No longer a secret from anyone, the church hierarchy and the Kane family had tried various methods and threats to dissolve the relationship, and Benita was more and more desperate to regain her life, her self respect.

"Deliverance," the final pages of the book, relates her campaign of recovery. By this time Benita is at Washburn, and finally agrees to a date with Curt Kirschbaum. Before this can happen, she needs to confront Father and flies to Cedar Rapids to do so. He becomes abrasive, even violent, but she escapes....for awhile. He makes threats, by phone and in person, but Curt succeeds in his courtship and they marry in August, 1965. She transfers to Roosevelt until her retirement in 1989; Father continues his harassment, Benita continues her self-blame.

Benita's release began in 1992, when she finally agreed to attend a support group of women who had been abused by priests. It was there that she found solace in others, it was there she was able to first write down what occurred, and finally say out loud. She began writing letters to the editors in response to news articles on abuse. Finally in June, 1996 she confronted Father Dunkel in a meeting with her family and his Archbishop and Vicar General. She continued therapy. After Father Dunkel died in 1998, Benita began to speak out publicly, retaining his anonymity, but the people of Dubuque knew and wrote venomous letters to Benita. And maybe the act that took the most courage, Benita tells her story to the group at her 50 year college class reunion in 2005.

Tranel concludes "Benita has made a long journey through unfathomable darkness and found her way.....she will not feast on despair, not untwist the last strands of her humanity, or most weary, cry I can no more. She can: Can something; hope, wish day come; not choose not to be."

MPS and AchieveMpls work in partnership

Minneapolis Public Schools (MPS) has an enormous job to do in ensuring that every child receives the best education possible and graduates “college ready.” But it can’t do this work alone. Our community also has a vital and exciting role to play in student success. The District counts on strong partnerships with volunteers, nonprofit organizations, businesses, donors, and other community leaders to support its work and improve outcomes for kids.

That’s where AchieveMpls steps in. AchieveMpls is the strategic nonprofit partner of the Minneapolis Public Schools that mobilizes community resources – money, time, talent, and public awareness – to provide greater support for MPS students, teachers, and families. We believe that all young people have the ability to reach their highest academic potential and succeed in school, work, and life. And we are committed to investing in our city’s health and economic vitality by building a stronger future for our young people and developing talented new leaders who stay here in Minneapolis.

AchieveMpls partners with MPS, the City of Minneapolis, the business sector, nonprofits, parents, and other community members to build a wide web of support that helps increase student academic achievement and ensure that all MPS students are successful in school, work and life. We also increase economic opportunities by improving college readiness and access, expanding job options, and engaging volunteers from the business and nonprofit communities to work with students. We help MPS raise funds for its strategic priorities, manage all private funds coming to the District, and coordinate 144 scholarship and grant funds for students and teachers.

If you know a teenager who enjoys the support of a high school Career and College Center or has used the “My Life Plan” curriculum to start planning their future, these are made possible by AchieveMpls. If your child or grandchild had a marvelous arts experience at their school, chances are that this was a part of Arts for Academic Achievement, which is supported by AchieveMpls. If you’ve ever been to a robotics competition, used a drop-out prevention program, or participated in the President’s Active Lifestyle Award program, you’ve been served by AchieveMpls. We also sponsor Historically Black Colleges and Universities fairs, host college tours, and empower parents with the information they need to help get their children into college. Finally, we are the nonprofit partner of the City of Minneapolis’ STEP-UP summer jobs program, placing 650 young people each year in meaningful paid internships with US Bank, Thrivent, the Walker Art Center, Children’s Hospital, the University of Minnesota and 100 other employers.

AchieveMpls is proud to be a strong partner of MPS, and invites you to join us in creating greater opportunities and successful futures for all of our young people. For more information on volunteer opportunities, providing financial support, or learning about other ways to support MPS students and teachers, please contact us at www.achievempls.org.
